Subject: Application for France National Visa (Long Stay - Student Visa) // for pursuing European Masters in Logistics at ETEC

Respected Sir/Madam,

I am Harsh Nanda, an Indian citizen, bearing passport number xxxxxxxx. I present before you to submit my intent to visit France. I am an experienced professional who has come a long way in my career to deal with vendors and ensure logistics are managed as per the expectations of the organization. However, I have realized I need a formal training in this domain to perform even better. Hence, I have chosen to pursue European Masters in Logistics. I am extremely fortunate to have received a Letter of Admission from ETEC, European Transcontinental Establishment For Commercial And Scientific Studies. This makes me share a couple of insights into my candidacy and throw some light on my desire to seek a study permit for pursuing this course.

Motivation to pursue European Master in Logistics

My bachelor's degree provided me with a fundamental knowledge of logistics and I became curious about the same. After passing out as a graduate, I had an immersive exposure as a site engineer which progressed into vendor management too. Over time, I interacted with various associated stakeholders which enhanced my view about maintaining logistics and supply chains within the construction industry. I already possess decent exposure to People Handling And Material Arrangements. Due to my undying interest in the field, I also performed meticulously in my job. However, I find quite a lot of gaps in my thoughts, actions, and understanding. As a result of this, I believe I need to upgrade myself technically in the course of logistics by going back to school for the upliftment of my career. Upon reviewing the curriculum of the chosen course at ETEC, I am highly convinced about the authenticity of the course offering as it covers intricate topics and gives full insight into the business of logistics which is my core area of interest. I have, therefore become determined to pursue this program at ETEC.

Choosing France

France is undoubtedly one of the most advanced study hubs which perfectly combines technology and education to offer modest solutions for the upcoming generation of students. The education system in France has no match. It will offer me the most industrious training through its wide variety of institutions. Hence, I am extremely thrilled to get an opportunity to study in France. I will garner international exposure here which is otherwise impossible to get in my home country. As I have already done assignments on French Economy and Import/Export business pre- and post-covid-19, I am convinced that studying practically here will strengthen my skillset and improve my industry basics precisely. Hence, I have chosen to pursue my studies in France.

Academic and Professional Background

As I have been a very laborious student and sincere towards my studies, I did consistently well throughout my school obtaining the first position in all of my grades. I passed secondary and senior secondary school with 82.33% and 77.6% in 2011 and 2013, respectively. As a result of my grades and strong analytical skills, I chose to pursue a Bachelor of Civil Engineering which I passed in 2017 with 66%. Soon after the completion of my graduate studies, I began working as a Site Engineer Trainee at Teemage and I gathered qualitative learning exposure here from May 2017 to April 2020. However, later I was absorbed by Sobha Ltd as a Site Engineer from August 2020 to September 2022. With my impeccable performance and exposure in the industry, I progressed as a Site Engineer and Vendor Manager at LPU Builders Private Limited in November 2022. Since then, I am employed here, rendering exclusive services in the area of construction and materials management while dealing exclusively with vendors and ensuring the management of logistics. Over time, I realized that acquiring a technical qualification in logistics will help me elevate my career as it will help me provide value addition to my potential employers. I can certainly do a lot better for my career if I study logistics and grab the opportunity to lead associated operations with my years of exposure in the industry.
