

Letter Of Recommendation

I am writing this letter in support of Mr. Vivaan Kapoor's application for admission to the Class of _____ at _____ University. He is acquainted with me since (first/second/third/final) year of his graduation program and basis my observation of him, I would say he is a persistent and responsible student with a stellar academic record.

As a person, he is approachable; willing to support his peers and regularly takes initiatives to share his knowledge by conducting seminars and interview practice sessions for his juniors. His time management is incredible as he has not missed any class despite concurrently pursuing other non-academic activities and rather actively involves himself in these diverse aspects of a student's life. Joining weekly project reviews while he was doing an internship at Solartis Technology Services, he paid attention to the feedback shared, incorporated it in his project and secured top grades in internal assessments too. Owing to his mature conduct he was further made the assistant class representative and in his role ensured that all the students timely attended the lectures and when it came to sharing class notes distributed them equally among all the attendees. In a gist, I would say that he is a multi-tasking and incredibly punctual student who is genuinely passionate towards delivering his commitment and can add on to the credibility of any team that he is part of.

Under my guidance he has done his final year project titled, "Doctor Online" and written a journal on "Digitalization of medical prescription and localization of healthcare products", which was published in "International Conference on Researches in Science and Technologies". His final year project was about developing a health precaution advisory Android application using XML, Java and SQLite. Working on this project, he consistently put up brilliant performances and stood out in terms of his ability to think spontaneously in crucial situations and eagerness to learn new skills whenever needed.

An equally good performer in extra-curricular activities as well, his interests ranges from technical events to sporting activities and has represented the college in many inter-college cricket and football competitions. He has also coordinated an intra-departmental symposium, "Ozmenta 2K16" and arranged various events at college level.

Vivaan's significant experience and strong interest in the subject make me believe in his decision to pursue this course and I therefore, recommend his application wholeheartedly.

Dr. Ananya Rao
Assistant Professor
ABC University