

Letter Of Recommendation

I am writing this letter to recommend Mr. Arnav Kapoor to the University of (Institute Name). He is acquainted with me through our academic interactions at XLRI School of Business and Human Resource, where I have taught him the subject of Managerial Economics. In my interactions with him, he came across as an attentive student, always regular for his classes, and was active with projects or class participation.

He enjoyed working in a team setup and due to his strong interpersonal skills, managed to interact amicably within a diverse group. His approachable personality made it convenient for others in the team to connect with him and share their concerns with ease. Also, I have observed him communicating effectively within a group to facilitate teamwork and encourage participation from everybody. He was quick to grab concepts in class, and his honesty further assisted him in learning complex concepts as he never hesitated in raising his doubts. Often being vocal about his viewpoints, he came up with relevant suggestions and was instrumental in making the discussions intellectually stimulating. Moreover, his overall positive attitude towards life is motivating and it was striking how he would never get discouraged by initial failures and persistently works towards achieving the goals by overcoming the hurdles faced.

Arnav has assisted me in publishing and reviewing a research paper, titled, "Economic Value of Human Resources during COVID 19 Pandemic: Manufacturing and R&D Sector Overview". Given the fact that this particular assignment involved going beyond what was taught in the class, he seemed just the right selection and was willing to explore the concepts not covered in the prescribed curriculum of the coursework. Participating with zeal, he studied the various aspects of the research problem in detail and looked to apply his learning rationally. Although he impressed me with his research skills, I especially appreciate the tenacity he exhibited in terms of meeting the expectations associated with the project and the diligent efforts he made in completing his tasks within the deadline.

Despite his hectic schedule, he consciously takes out time for extra-curricular activities and also served as the senior library committee member.

I think this course would assist Arnav in acquiring additional knowledge and skills commensurate to his interest and aspirations, and provide him with a platform to implement these acquired skills at international levels. I, therefore, recommend him to the institution.
