

Letter Of Recommendation

It is with immense happiness that I am writing this letter of recommendation for my student Mr. Aarush Patel. Describing his personality in brief, I would say that he is among the most creative and capable individuals I have taught and possesses the interpersonal skills needed to work well with a diverse group.

In his current position as a Teaching Assistant, he attempts to evaluate the expectations of his students, regularly involves them in interactive discussions to gauge their interest level and comprehension of the concepts being discussed in the class. He encourages students to raise doubts, listens to queries with patience, and does not mind experimenting with different approaches to explain the topics coherently. A perfect incident in this context would be a session he conducted for the subject Object Oriented Programming, during which most of the students were facing issues in understanding the concept of Polymorphism. Responding aptly to this situation, he shared with them a practical example of how although he is the same person, however, his responsibilities vary as per the situation, and in different situations, he is exhibiting a different role. While he impressed me with his quick assessment of class sentiment and relatable explanation, what I like the most was his selection of an example that also was aimed at imbibing ethical values within the group.

Having known him for all these years, I can attest that he has qualities considered a prerequisite for the field of (stream) and feel that through this coursework would gain more relevant skills to become an expert level professional in the area of his interest. I, therefore recommend his admission into the program.

Dr. Sanjeev Ranjan
Assistant Professor
ABC University