

Letter Of Recommendation

I am writing this letter recommending Mr. Naveen Verma to (your university name). I have known him professionally for (mention number of years) years during his stint at Fidelity Investments and found him to be an approachable person who possesses strong technical skills and is supportive of his colleagues.

He is result-oriented and always strives to be meticulous with completing his assigned task on time. His passion for learning new concepts and developing skills related to his field of interest is incredible and constantly demonstrates his willingness to accumulate comprehensive subject knowledge. In his interactions with others, he displays excellent communication skills and also can present his viewpoint articulately during group discussions. The honesty with which he works reflects in his overall and willingness to seek feedback as while executing complex tasks, he did not shy away from bringing his doubts to me and was truthful about all the issues faced. Moreover, he puts a lot of emphasis on planning diligently, even before commencing a task, and always takes a cue from broader objectives set up for the team.

Under my guidance, he has worked with the team which develops and maintains robust micro-service web applications for the client. In his role as the full stack developer, he was responsible for undertaking assignments utilizing diverse technologies including but not limited to .NET framework, c#, React, SQL, and ELK stack. As part of a project aiming to optimize the ETL pipeline to make recent data available to customers faster, he contributed to creating proof-of-concept solutions to further build scalable data pipelines and data store and implemented multiple technologies such as Snowflake, AWS cloud solutions, and spark. During this project, he was quick in grasping new concepts and adapted well to the work culture. Consequently, he was able to meet all the expectations professionally and owing to his astounding performance and positive feedback he received was promoted to the position of Software Engineer within nine months of his joining. A firm believer in inculcating an all-rounder personality, he is a regular participant in various events held at the office and was involved in organizing some of these events too.

In my opinion, the course that your university has to offer matches Naveen's interest in learning advanced concepts of Data Science and would provide him the opportunity to acquire in-depth knowledge of the domain. I, therefore, recommend his application wholeheartedly. Please provide him with your favorable consideration.

Vipul Yadav
Manager
ABC Company