The Visa Officer
Embassy of Italy

Sub: Application in response to study permit rejected on 22/09/2023 (R8858435)

Respected Sir/ Madam,

I hereby introduce myself as Nitin Shukla, an Indian national bearing passport number <add> wishing to pursue a Master's Degree in International Economics and Commerce at the Università Politecnica Delle. I am an experienced professional who aims to elevate my career graph by advancing my academic graph. I am also glad to share that I have already received admission to this program, but unfortunately, my visa application was rejected due to the following reasons:

The information you have provided is unreliable; you failed to provide sufficient proof of your intention to return to India.

Academic and professional background

Since childhood, as I began learning commerce, economics, and business in my academic journey, I became interested in these affairs. Also, I made diligent efforts to learn more about the world of economics, commerce, and business while being at my job. My career of over 5.5 years turned out quite nicely as I learned a great deal in understanding how commerce plays a vital role in uplifting businesses worldwide and how economics continually supports demand and supply curves in any business. Therefore, I became quite intrigued by the thought of getting a stronghold on the two while also elevating my level in international communication, which binds the two nations in trade. My previous roles as Business Coordinator and Business Executive led an excellent example for me to vouch for further education as during my tenure, I intricately involved myself in matters related to commerce and economics, trying to understand their role in the expansion of any business entity. As I speculated, my understanding of these subjects has become quite redundant due to having attended school back in 2015, while the existing dynamics have changed a lot at the domestic and international levels. To embrace this change and sustain my professional career, I have to come out of my comfort zone and invest time in extended learning by acquiring a degree in International Economics and Commerce.

Academically, I completed my schooling at Holy Cross Academy, and my passion for business and commerce led me to pursue a Bachelor of Business Administration as part of my undergraduate studies. Graduating in 2015 equipped me with a profound understanding of commerce, accounts, and administration within the realm of business.

From a career standpoint, the projected 78% growth in employment rates in Economics from 2023 to 2031 presents a promising landscape. I also have ambitions of starting my own business alongside a job in the future. Being an international student will enable me to engage with diverse cultures, fostering personal development and enriching my life experiences. The process of adapting to a new country, language, and culture will prepare me for potential challenges in the business world. Furthermore, my educational and career aspirations are driven by an unwavering passion for commerce and economics. Studying abroad will not only broaden my horizons but also equip me with the skills and confidence needed to excel in the ever-evolving world of business.

Why International Economics and Commerce at the Università Politecnica Delle?

It has been over five and a half years since I have been working in the business industry. After having learned the inside and outside of business, I am heavily inclined toward making a solid foundation for me to shape my career accordingly and take advantage of opportunities within my country. However, without having a specific degree or a certification, it will not be an easier route for me to rise in my career graph. Hence, I have decided to pursue the chosen course from the Università Politecnica Delle in Italy. Also, as I speculated further, I learned that the opportunities after graduating from this university will be many, and I will not have to look back on my career. This institute prepares students with the trendiest curriculum and teaches them practical lessons. Furthermore, the university has its legacy, which makes it unique for me as an international student. I feel deeply connected with the morals and training of this institution, and I am strongly convinced to study here so I can derive the most benefits of practical learning.

Tiebacks home

Future goals

If I ponder the career opportunities in India, India has advanced in a humongous manner considering international trade and commerce. There are inviting opportunities for me once I conclude my study program in Italy. Internationally qualified individuals are given higher importance, and their career gets prioritized even more due to the exceptional input they give in the uplifting standards. Therefore, I am convinced I will have great opportunities at my door after I complete this study program, and so I am determined to return to my country as I would rather begin from scratch in any foreign country while in my country, I have solid industry connections which will be helpful for me to resume my career from where I would leave for further studies. It is one significant advantage for me to seek my return home. I aspire to go back home to secure more robust career prospects. I've identified several excellent companies, such as TATA, Reliance, Nestle, Unilever, and KPMG, as potential employers. My ultimate ambition is to leverage my degree to excel in my field and eventually become an entrepreneur. Pursuing further education will expedite my career goals.

I aim to reserve better positions, as I have already listed a few great companies under my potential employers. These include TATA, Reliance, Nestle, Unilever, KPMG, etc. My ultimate goal is to utilize my degree to reach heights in my profession and finally become an entrepreneur. My further education will help me in achieving my career plans swiftly.

Family ties

My family is my strongest tie in India, and as the eldest son, I am fully mature and invested in my relations as much as I am in my career. Therefore, I am determined to return to my roots where my family lives. My immediate family members include my spouse, father, mother, and younger brother. My father is a businessman, my mother is a homemaker, and my brother is pursuing post-graduation. As the eldest son, I have the responsibility of the house on my shoulders. Our tradition is that the elder son takes care of the entire clan unless siblings get settled, while the parental responsibility remains constant. As much as I love my parents, I wish to serve myself in their service, as they have played a huge role in my success. I will never spare them in their old age and return home to carry all the responsibility towards them and the heritage they have graced so far.

Financial establishment

Considering my financial position, I am equipped with 29,000 Euros, which will be used for my further studies and living. Also, we have huge properties and land, as I have personally owned two properties worth 178,000 Euros, which strengthens me to fulfill my education dreams as I have already reserved my financial future by investing in real estate. Alongside this, we have continuous income sources in the form of Paying guest houses, car washing stations, hotels, etc., in our hometown.

Why Italy?

Studying in Italy is a cherished dream, offering not only international exposure but also access to cutting-edge global tools and techniques. This education will be invaluable upon my return home. Enrolling at Università Politecnica Delle promises a fantastic experience, boasting an advanced curriculum that aligns with my interests. The institution's global reputation and diverse student body deeply resonate with me. A paramount consideration for me is a learning environment that values peace and harmony, and I am genuinely impressed by how my chosen university fosters this culture.

Conclusion

I have already submitted legal documentation, and I am glad to share that I have completed studies from an English medium background, and based on MOI (medium of instruction) I have received admission to this program. My English language skills will allow me to have better communication in Italy. Based on the above-discussed particulars, I request you allow me a visa permit. Thank you in advance.

Yours Sincerely,
Nitin Shukla
