Just like good notions get engraved and are cherished for a lifetime, there are others, not-so-happy ones, that inspire you to elevate yourself professionally. Coming safe and secure from a house and turning it into more than four walls, a place that I could call 'Home', I grew up many years early in the process. Observing domestic violence at home and observing the same at my father's hand, I wanted to take action. Discussing with near ones, I was suggested legal actions as an ideal way to save my mother and myself from my abusive father. This was when I decided that I would pursue law as my profession. In the process of getting separated from him, the power of law, and the way our lawyer dealt, I was sure that this was how I would proceed and where I would be commissioned to follow the right path. Thus an LLM degree will allow me to proceed further in the goals that heal my pain.

Soon after school, I enrolled in the B.A. LL.B program. During these six years of law journey, I explored numerous concepts of law and enhanced my learning skills and practical knowledge from many realms. Some of these domains include civil-criminal litigation, human rights, international arbitration, and corporate law. I also unfolded subjects like International law, Environmental law, Human Rights Protections, and Remedies, Contract law, Jurisprudence law, Administrative law, Arbitration laws, ADRs, intellectual property law, Cyber laws, Consumer Protection laws, and Competition law. I am certain that these will be the foothold of my LLM course, as I embark on this next academic sojourn.

Besides the curriculum, I completed short-term courses like consumer protection litigation, advanced legal drafting course, and criminal procedure courses that were significant in providing strength. Other than the courses, the undergraduate course was a judicious mix of theory and practical. This made me perceive that all kinds of organizations, and businesses and their practices are dependent on the law. Moreover, I found that all companies have a legal department that guides them to abide by and follow the legal regulations of the country and business.

While I completed my course, I began working in prepositions related to cyber law, Arbitration laws, and Company law. Working in these spheres provided learning that will always be vital in the field as I transcend into the professional arena after completing the Master's course. I acquired various internship experiences that enhanced my understanding of the law and the intensive domains it entails. While I was still working, I got an opportunity to work at Mittal Associates, where I studied cases involving CBI and RBI. This research-oriented work propelled me for another stint at Singh Associates, where I researched and learned about the Companies Act, of 2013. I also researched and found the applicability of the Income Tax Act, of 1972. Later in the same year, I worked as an intern at the Bose Law Office and found out how the Copyright Act works along with the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, of 1996. This is where my interest in arbitration law kindled and intermittently I began working with Singh Associates. These periodic internships allowed me to assist in both litigation and advisory through my thorough research of the related laws and judicial precedents. I also prepared case notes, including facts of the case, issues involved, description of important documents, arguments, contentions, and legal position with case laws, for representation of cases and briefing seniors. I also drafted research notes on various law points, including the interpretation of statutes, using various legal databases such as PVX Online, LLTC Private, MTIL, etc. At the same time, I drafted various complaints and petitions and learned these tasks thoroughly.

I also worked with Khera Associates and Advocates, where I visited the courts, researched various parameters of the Hindu Marriage Act, and even observed a hearing on the Indian Arbitration Act.

From the internship experiences I have gained requisite practical knowledge; however, I now believe that for a stronger hold of the various laws I need to plunge back into studies and acquire extensive knowledge of particular domains so I can master them. I will be happy to attain this knowledge from the university's world-class teaching faculty. I will get an in-depth understanding of the principles and regulations of different laws which will help me attract my future goals. In addition, the LLM program will upgrade my first degree in terms of legal aspects, I will obtain presentation and communication skills allowing me to convincingly put forth my view to help others. After completion of the LLM degree, I wish to work in the legal field of either the public or private sector. Both sectors hire LLM degree holders who are professionals with sheer acumen and astute knowledge of the subject. I see myself working at an International Organization such as the ICC and EU. Through this, I can aid others to win their cases and build rapport. In the long run, I see myself working in a position where I can independently handle and guide someone like my own. This credence will come through lots of practice and implementation.

For these goals, I am happy to have chosen Mt. Carmel College in Ireland. Studying law in Ireland will expose me to cutting work, real-time cases of corporations, and the ways they were resolved. This will open a gamut of opportunities for me to learn from. I am influenced by Dr. David Pattinson and his teaching methodology. Thus, I look forward to attaining my MS degree in Law from your prestigious university.

I understand the hard work that goes into fulfilling dreams and stepping out of my comfort zone of my native country will proffer a sense of independence. This will enrich me to explore uninhibited and thus tread on a path toward my eventual goal of becoming a stalwart in the profession.
